Personal Profile:

I am soon to be a graduate of York St John University's Drama and Theatre degree. I am a writer, creator and performer. By working in multiple social environments like bars, restaurants, shops, and theatres throughout my life, I have developed customer service and communication skills to an extremely confident level. In studying Drama and Theatre, I have developed my versatility as an artist. From creating shows throughout my time at university, I have demonstrated my skills as a writer and dedication to the artistic traditions of York. After I graduate, I aspire to be a freelance theatre artist who works on collaborative and solo projects. Alongside this, I aspire to continue my learning in a MA Course in Play Writing.
